Module 1: Introduction to the Birth Chart

Lesson 1: The Basics — How to Build and Read Your Birth Chart

Step-by-step Guide to Creating Your Natal Chart

1. Go to the website Astro-Seek.com.
2. Select Free Horoscopes → Birth Natal Chart Online Calculator.

3. Fill out the form with:

- Your date of birth (day, month, year).
- Your time of birth (hours, minutes). If you don't know the exact time, set it to 12:00 noon.
- Your place of birth (city and country).

4. Click Calculate — your natal chart will be ready!

Basics of the Natal Chart

1. Houses of the Horoscop

Your natal chart divides the sky into 12 sectors, starting from the Ascendant—the point where the sun was rising at the exact moment you were born. These sectors are called houses, and each one highlights a specific area of your life. The planets and luminaries located in these houses influence how these life areas express themselves.

Each house in your birth chart corresponds to a specific area of life:

ASC (1st House) — Personality, appearance, self-expression

II (2nd House) — Finances, resources, personal values

III (3rd House) — Communication, learning, short trips

IC (4th House) — Family, home, roots

V (5th House) — Creativity, romance, children

VI (6th House) — Work, health, daily routine

DS (7th House) — Partnerships, marriage, competition

VIII (8th House) — Crisis, other people's money, transformation

IX (9th House) — Philosophy, long-distance travel, higher education

MC (10th House) — Career, public image, life purpose

XI (11th House) — Friends, communities, dreams

XII (12th House) — Secrets, subconscious, limitations

For this course, we'll focus mainly on these three houses:

II (2nd House) — Finances, resources, personal values

VI (6th House) — Work, health, daily routine

MC (10th House) — Career, public image, life purpose

The Four Angular Houses

Some houses stand out as the most important in our lives. These are called the angular houses and are marked with special letters:

ASC (1st House) — Personality, appearance, self-expression

IC (4th House) — Family, home, roots

DS (7th House) — Partnerships, marriage, competition

MC (10th House) — Career, public image, life purpose

2. Zodiac Signs

Each house in your natal chart is linked to a zodiac sign. The sign that appears on the cusp—the starting edge—of a house shows how that life area plays out for you.

Where your houses fall depends on your birth date, time, and place. That's why everyone's chart is unique!

3. Planetary Rulers

Every zodiac sign has a ruling planet that influences how its house behaves. This planet brings both strengths and challenges to that area of your life.

Here are the planetary rulers for each sign:

|             |                                                                                     |           |
|-------------|-------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-----------|
| Aries       |   | → Mars    |
| Taurus      |  | → Venus   |
| Gemini      |  | → Mercury |
| Cancer      |  | → Moon    |
| Leo         |  | → Sun     |
| Virgo       |  | → Mercury |
| Libra       |  | → Venus   |
| Scorpio     |  | → Pluto   |
| Sagittarius |  | → Jupiter |
| Capricorn   |  | → Saturn  |
| Aquarius    |  | → Uranus  |
| Pisces      |  | → Neptune |

Planet in a House - a planet in a house means the planet is located within the sector between the boundary of one house and the next.

Example: Moon in the 2nd House (Fig. 2)

4. House Cusp

A house cusp is the boundary where each of the 12 sectors (houses) in the horoscope begins. Houses are divided by lines, and the start of a house is called its cusp.

Each cusp is numbered – for example, the number 2 indicates the beginning of the 2nd house.

How to Find the Cusps on Your Chart?

- ◆ On the natal chart itself, cusps appear as the dividing lines between houses, as shown in Fig. 3.
- ◆ You can also find their exact positions in the house table, under the section Planets – Houses (see Fig. 4).

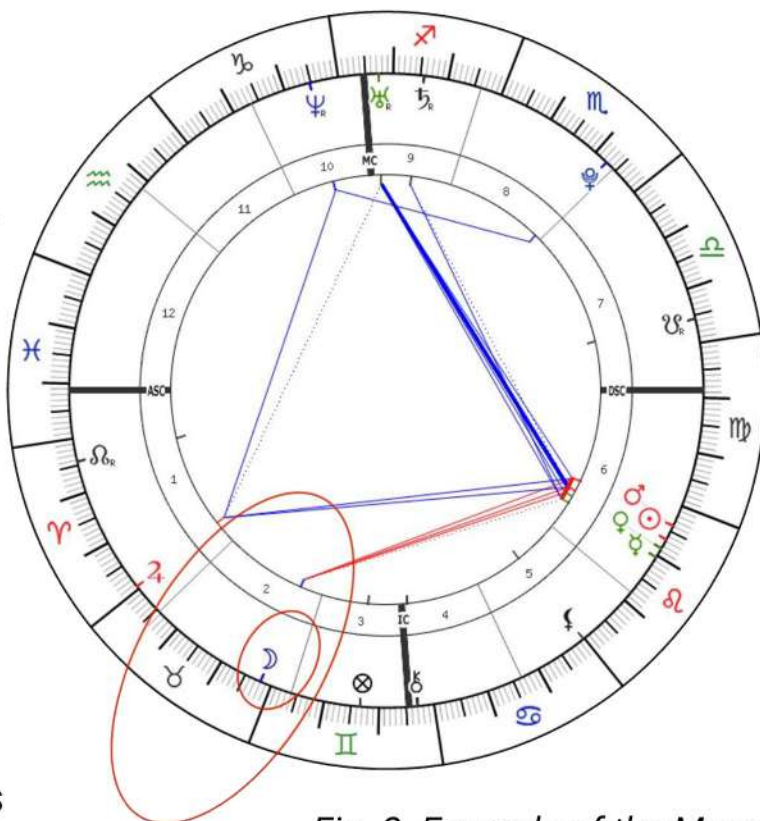

Fig. 2. Example of the Moon in the 2nd House

Houses: (Placidus system)

|              |              |
|--------------|--------------|
| AC: ♌ 27°15' | DC: ♈ 27°15' |
| 2: ♍ 23°51'  | 8: ♊ 23°51'  |
| 3: ♎ 28°02'  | 9: ♒ 28°02'  |
| IC: ♏ 7°46'  | MC: ♉ 7°46'  |
| 5: ♈ 12°04'  | 11: ♏ 12°04' |
| 6: ♉ 7°55'   | 12: ♌ 7°55'  |

4. Example of a House Positioned in a Zodiac Sign

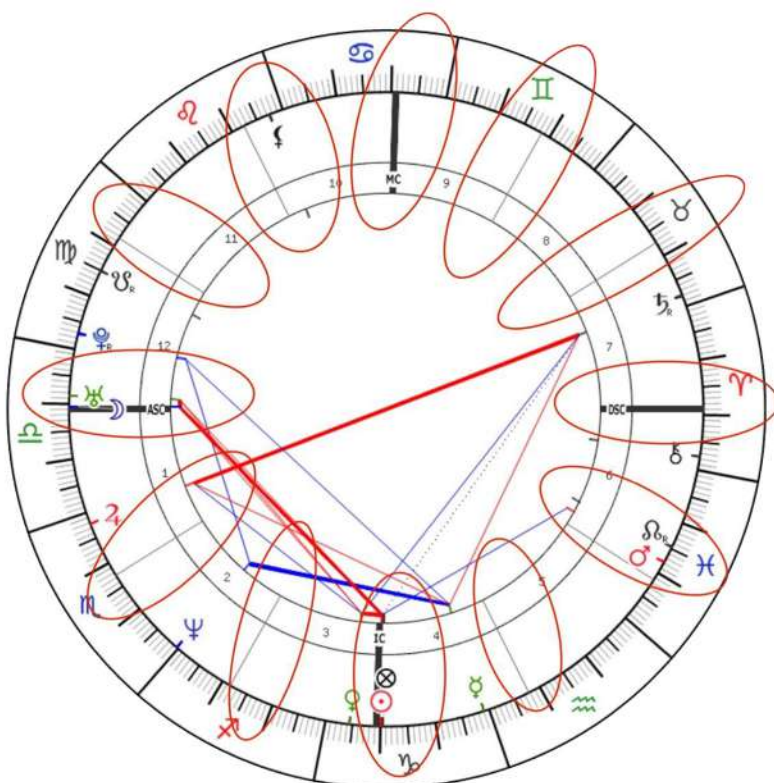

Fig. 3. House Cusps Fig.

When houses overlap zodiac signs:

Sometimes a house lies entirely within one zodiac sign — for example, the entire 2nd House in Taurus.

Other times, a house spans two signs. For instance, as shown in Fig. 3, the 2nd House begins in Scorpio and ends in Sagittarius. In such cases, look at the house cusp (the start of the house) to determine its zodiac sign, or refer to the table of values. In this example, the cusp of the 2nd House is in Scorpio (see Fig. 4).

5. Difference Between Natal Chart and Solar Return Chart

Natal chart — your main birth chart. Think of it like your passport; it never changes. You create it once based on your birth data.

Solar return chart (Solar) — a chart cast for your birthday each year. It shows what the upcoming year will be like for you.

The financial forecast you'll calculate in the final lesson is based on the Solar Return chart.

Module 2: Dream Job & High-Income Careers

Lesson 2: Discover Your Most Lucrative Career Paths

Lesson 2 focuses on discovering the best financial path for you, which involves business. This lesson reveals the steps when you have a talent talent for money and where you can find it.

The 2nd House money highlights industries suited for your own business or self-employment – essentially how you can make a significant impact on your own life, money, and business.

Identify Your Business Goals

1. The most profitable business for you
2. Fields where you have the potential to make and receive significant income
3. Your strengths that will help you succeed

Your personal goals must be aligned with the industry by the end of the course you will have a clear vision.

Identify Your Goals

1. Identify your goals (the step-by-step guide will help you)
2. Identify your strengths (the step-by-step guide will help you)

Fig. 1. Example of the 2nd House Financial Plan

Communication and reliable connections: Develop solid connections, useful knowledge, and active relationships with people that include flexibility and adaptability (your ability to adapt quickly to new situations).

Personal growth: You must find the right words to say, think, and act. You must find your own light and bring it to the world.

Lesson 1

Learning to say "no" is more challenging than saying "yes." The first mistake people make is saying "yes" to everything. It's much more effective to say "no" to everything and then say "yes" to the things you want.

Executive Skills

2nd House in Cancer

Most financial success depends on having a good relationship. It's about the way you feel about the world and the relationship between money and the world. Money is not just a relationship, it's a relationship.

Five Principles for Learning Money

Responsible money management: monitor income and expenses; carefully consider future spending.

Pay attention to your well-being: when life is uncomfortable, income flows cease. Stress and stress block financial flow.

Initiate: your inner voice is well-developed – listen to it when making financial decisions or choosing your workplace.

Money Lesson

Money is conventional logic for you. Logic and calculation don't always work well. Consider responsibility and harmony in all life areas, and trust your intuition! That's the fastest path to success.

Exception – if the logic of your job requires it, the logic rules (outside the logic).

Executive Fields

Module 3: Money Energy

Lesson 4: Practical Steps to Activate Wealth Flow

- What specific actions should you take to start the money flow?
- Where should you invest your money to increase your income?
- Why does money slip away and you can't seem to save? How to stop these leaks?
- Should you start a business, and if yes, which should will be most profitable for you?

All these questions will be answered in this lesson.

Understanding your unique money energy is the key to making money come easily and stay with you. This is the foundation for our previous lessons on the individual money and income – the foundation of today's calculations.

Think of your money flow as a locked door. The state of "locked" or "unlocked" is determined by your money energy. The right actions, taken over time, will lead to your money flowing through the door, and money will be yours. Learning how to activate this state is crucial.

Steps to Find Your Money Flow:

immediately and change that immediately" - means it's really about managing yourself and how you use the time that is money
your money
- The first rule is to be the customer, not the seller. You should always have money and control
the situation and not be controlled by others.
- Keep your money working for you. Don't let it sit in a bank account.
